

Doxastikon at the Aposticha

Mode

 lo - - ry to the Fa - ther and to the Son and to the Ho - - ly Spir - it. he de- sires of thy soul and the pas- sions of thy flesh thou hast cut down with the sword of ab - - - nence; thy sin - ful thoughts thou hast choked with the sil - - ence of the as - cet - ic life. With the streams of thy tears thou hast wa-tered all the wil - der -
 - - ness, and caused the fruits of re- pent - - ance to spring up for us: there - - fore, O saint,

